

Refuse to Be a Victim

- Something goes bump in the night in your home...How do you react?
- You are leaving the mall late at night and there is a stranger in the parking lot... is he following you?
- You are in your car and you breakdown.... What do you do to stay safe? A car pulls up .... Are they there to help or do they have another motive?
- You are coming home from visiting a friend and you notice a car following you... what actions will you take?
- You are going on a vacation out of town. How do you make your home safe while you are gone? Will there be property damage? Will your mail be missing? Will the criminal get your credit card information?

These are all questions most people fail to ask themselves until it is too late. Usually, the question is, “why me” .... after they’ve been victimized.

Is there comprehensive information...a centralized depository of information that will give you guides and information that can help you not become the victim of a crime. PROCRASTINATION is not an acceptable action. The answer is yes.... There is one comprehensive class which covers all of the above and way more. This is a not a firearms class. Do not bring your gun unless you plan on shooting after the class.
